New Moscow Parley Emphasizes Change In War During Year

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

The arrival of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in Moscow to confer with Russia's Marshal Joseph Stalin highlights the dramatic change that has taken place in the war since these two Allied chiefs in company with America's President Franklin D. Roosevelt, last met at Tehran.

Then, less than a year ago, Russia was fighting the war against Germany, as Moscow's newspapers so often and so urgently pointed out, alone. Soviet armies on a 1,000-mile front were pressing back Nazi hordes from the Baltic to the Black Sea, winning triumphs almost daily. The cause of victory—salvos to be fired in Moscow and the long-muffled bells of hundreds of churches in Russian cities and villages to be rung in rejoicing.

Spotlight stolen

Now American-British invasion forces in France and Germany have stolen the spotlight of the war from the Red Army. Landing on the coasts of fortress Europe early in the summer, citizen soldiers of the United States and England, have astonished the world by the manner in which they have fought their way through the sternest and most desperate German resistance to achieve triumphs that have equaled if not exceeded any won by their Soviet Allies on the eastern front.

Repayment Of Much Lend-Lease Is Not Probable

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R) Neb., declared today that England probably will never repay the United States for lend-lease. Just returned from a 10-day trip to Great Britain, Miller asserted that, in his opinion, it was a matter of "forgive and forget."

"I'm of the opinion we may owe England before we're through," he commented, adding that "some people" he talked to overseas "think we should pay our share of the bomb damage; it's all part of the war."

"Don't get me wrong," he declared. "I'm for lend-lease. I think it has saved the lives of many American soldiers. But I believe we should keep a more detailed account here of lend-lease to balance that kept by the British. They're listing everything they give us, from shoe shine to whiskey."

Germany Exacts Enormous Sum

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Germany has exacted $26,400,000,000 to date from France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Bohemia, Moravia and Serbia in occupation costs, Dingle Foot, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of economic warfare, said in parliament today.

The present annual rate of German exploitation of occupied territory is estimated at $2,760,000,000 and after complete liberation of France, Belgium and Holland this figure would be reduced to about $1,840,000,000, Dingle Foot said.

China Must Receive Postwar Aid Of U. S.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(INS)—United States must aid China in postwar period or Japan will re-emerge as the dominant industrial power of the far east in the opinion of Donald M. Nelson, former head of the war production board.

"It is not only opportunity but necessity for America to interest herself wholeheartedly in the post-war development of China on a straight business basis," Nelson, who recently returned from a trip to China for President Roosevelt, said.

Front Dispatches Say Red Units Reach Baltic South Of Memel

BELIEVE 150,000 GERMANS CUT OFF

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Oct. 10.—The vanguard of Red army assault forces was reported in front dispatches today to have reached the Baltic Sea at a point 20 miles south of Memel, Lithuania, isolating German forces still in the area of Riga to the north-east.

A new Soviet offensive against Nazi lines in the Vistula river bend south of Warsaw was reported by the German radio.

Russian troops smashed ahead southwest of Siauliai (Shavli) in Lithuania into the last German defenses covering the approaches to East Prussia.

Believe 150,000 Cut Off

Unofficial estimates placed the total of German troops cut off in Latvia and Lithuania at 150,000. While columns in the north intensified their drive to threaten the port of Memel, Red army troops in Hungary slashed the last major escape route for German forces in Transylvania.

Steel And Rail City Of Bochum Heavily Bombed

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A concentrated attack on industrial and communications targets in the German city of Bochum was announced today by the British air ministry.

RAF Halifaxes slashed at the Ruhr steel and rail center of Bochum while other RAF planes smashed unspecified objectives at Witten.

The British night attacks came on the heels of a huge daylight assault in which over 1,100 U. S. Fortresses and Liberators of the eighth air force with strong fighter escort battered targets in Schweinfurt and the Coblenz and Mainz areas of the Reich.

No Fighter Opposition

No German fighter opposition greeted the huge armada of American bombers and fighters, and anti-aircraft fire varied from meager to intense over Coblenz and Mainz while units attacking at Schweinfurt reported little flak.

Five heavy bombers and three fighters failed to return from these operations.

In retaliation for the night and day allied bombings, the Germans sent robot bombs over the southern counties of England and the London area during the night. Some damage and casualties resulted from the attacks.

Headquarters of the RAF bomber command announced officially that British planes alone, operating from bases in England, had hurled more than 600,000 tons of bombs on Europe.

Between the beginning of the war and Sept. 30 of this year RAF planes hammered Nazi targets with 583,652 American tons of high explosives.

Fifth Army In Italy Is Driving Nearer Bologna

ROME, Oct. 10.—American long-ton Artillery heavily shelled the German-held main Bologna-Rimini highway while ground forces of the Fifth army smashed closer to the city of Bologna today.

In limited advances along highway 65 the Americans of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's army captured Anconella, Mount Castellazzi and Lavalle and Barbarola.

The fifth army forces consolidated newly-won frontline positions and British troops under command of Gen. Clark moved up to capture an important strategic hill and maintained attacks against Germans entrenched on Mount Cece.

The British met strong resistance and beat down repeated German counter-attacks in which the Nazis suffered severe losses.

Weather Is Bad

Negro and Brazilian troops continued steady pressure on their fifth army sectors despite strong German reaction in the form of artillery and mortar fire.

Continued bad weather hindered operations on the Adriatic sector.

The British found the rain-swollen Fiumicino river still a difficult obstacle to cross. Despite prohibitive fighting conditions, the British pushed from Montigallo 2,000 yards east to Longiano where they warded off several counter-attacks and took prisoners.

The Nazis counter-attacked on both the fifth and eighth army fronts in an effort to regain every successive position lost.

The weather interfered with air operations but some fighter-bombers and bombers were able to blast Nazi communications targets north of the battle area.

Medium night bombers attacked airfields in Athens, Greece, from which the Nazis were evacuating key army personnel.

Corinth Is Taken By Allied Land Army In Greece

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Oct. 10.—The Allied campaign to liberate the Peloponnese area of southern Greece was brought to a climax today with the capture of the historic city of Corinth.

Fall of the city to Allied land forces of the Adriatic presaged the imminent liberation of Athens.

Operations headquarters reported that the Germans were evacuating key army personnel from the Greek capital in the face of the swift advance of the Allies in co-operation with Greek patriot forces.

The Germans were attempting to take their army chiefs away from Athens by air.

In an effort to frustrate the evacuation of key army men, the Mediterranean air force sent medium bombers over Athens during the night to hammer at airfields in the vicinity of the capital.

Capture of Corinth was expected to be followed by an immediate Allied march across the Corinth isthmus to the northern mainland of Greece and an eastward push in the direction of Athens about 50 air miles distant.

The Allied entry into Corinth met no opposition, headquarters said.

Allies On Watch For Possible New Type Submarine

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Allied anti-submarine forces kept a sharp lookout today for signs that Germany might unleash a new type U-boat against United Nations shipping lines in a last desperate blow.

The warning that a mysterious new U-boat might soon be ready for action came in a joint statement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill which said that shipping losses to German submarines in September reached a near record low.

No indication was given as to the type of new submarine the Germans were preparing to use beyond the fact that it might be designed to outwit present allied anti-U-boat weapons.

Several startling innovations were tried at various times by the German navy in an effort to outsmart the allies but they all failed as American and British forces swept the undersea raiders from the shipping lanes.

The very fact that the allies were expecting something new fore-

The shrubbery was once my pride and joy, folks came from miles around to view the scene, each spring the blossoms fragrantized the air, and lovely was the back lawn, lush and green. But now the lawn is barren and bare, the shrubbery will never be the same, we had to cut a section of it out, the kids now use the yard to play their games. For football signals rent the autumn air, and basketball is on each afternoon, not for a while will blossoms please the eye, and beauty to the world come every June. But shrubbery can be replaced at will, and grass seed doesn't cost so very much. I'd sooner see the kids tear up the yard with basketball and football games and such, so let 'em rip and never mind the lawn, let kids and sports and fun have plenty, for kids are only kids a little while, the weather's cool and 53 today.

Starting at 2 p. m. yesterday, people filed through the church at a rate estimated to be more than 6,000 an hour. The line never wavered until midnight, when the church doors were closed.

Willkie's body was brought to the church early yesterday in a simple bronze casket. Placed beneath the pulpit in the center of the church, it was draped in an American flag around which were banded some of the many floral tributes sent the family. Willkie had on a dark business suit, a white shirt and a small, light blue tie. In keeping with the family's wish the setting remained as unostentatious as possible.

Mr. Willkie requested that no pictures be taken of her entering the church or of the funeral procession. She remained alone with the body of her husband for several hours before the general public was admitted and then left for home with her brother-in-law, Edward.

In Hungary, Red army assault forces stormed Szolnok, only 50-odd miles from Budapest, as other units seized control of a 25-mile stretch of the Debrecen-Budapest railway to slash the last major escape channel for German forces in Transylvania.

To Encircle Germans

Russian spearheads which have driven more than 100 miles beyond the Debrecen-Budapest railroad are believed to be aiming at a junction with Soviet forces fighting in Czechoslovakia for complete encirclement of the Germans in Transylvania.

Heavy fighting flared in Poland, north of Warsaw, where Russian troops holding a bridgehead on the right bank of the Narew river smashed back 20 Nazi counter-attacks in the course of the day.

Soviet troops, in three days' reports, with capturing 26 tanks and self-propelled guns, 66 pieces of artillery, 11 railroad trains, 600 loaded trucks, and more than 1,000 carts.

As Red army drove relentlessly ahead on a 175-mile front from the Narew river to the Latvian frontier, threatening to trap some 150,000 Nazi soldiers between Riga and newly threatened Memel, the German radio claimed that huge reinforcements sparked the Soviet attacks.

(The Berlin radio, monitored by NBC, claimed that 40 fresh armored and infantry divisions had been hurled into the Russian attempt to cut off German armies near Riga.)

Of Honor Of Pennsylvania

Cpl. John M. Othites, U. S. Marine Corps, local hero of four major battles in the Southwest Pacific, was the guest of honor Monday evening at dinner given by the employees of the Pennsylvania Power company steam plant.

Approximately 50 persons attended the dinner in the Diaz hall, West Pittsburg, at 6:30 o'clock. John W. Mike, superintendent of the plant, as master of ceremonies called on the following for remarks: O. E. Flora, P. G. Dingley and Thomas L. Paden.

Cited in the deed are the many tributes and thanks from the employees to Corporal Othites for his heroic actions and courage in four major battles of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan and Tinian. The deed was read before the group. The honored guest was also presented with a small purse.

The young Marine graciously responded thanking all for their occasion. ## Many To Remain In Service After Germany Defeat

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. William F. Tompkins, director of the special planning division of the War Department, insisted today that "it will be necessary to keep in service many more men than can be released" after the defeat of Germany.

Speaking at a forum on demobilization and rehabilitation sponsored by the New York Times, Tompkins added that while men would be retained in the service in sufficient numbers to crush Japan, "it is not and has never been our intention to retain within the army one man more than is required to fill our military needs."

Gen. Tompkins explained that transportation will be a big factor in determining how soon a soldier will be returned from overseas. He pointed out, however, that immediately after the fall of Germany the men will begin an educational program overseas "to fit them for the kind of jobs they want in civilian life."

NEW MOSCOW PARLEY EMPHASIZES CHANGE IN WAR DURING YEAR

since D-day it is interesting to recall that Russian plans concerning what Moscow called the "second front" urged simply that enough American-British troops assault the coasts of France to compel the withdrawal of 50 Nazi divisions from the east.

Instead of the 50 divisions that Marshal Stalin wanted drawn away from the Russian front, Gen. Eisenhower's operations have brought about the transfer of at least double that number, with more still on the move. In the neighborhood of 30 Nazi divisions have been chipped away, trapped or heavily damaged, and German troop formations are being drawn from as far away as the Baltic states and Bulgaria to provide reserves to hold back the American-British flood.

Situation Changed

When the big three sat down in conference in Tehran late in last November, the Red Army claimed with a good deal of reason to be doing most of the fighting in the European phase of the war. Now all that is changed.

Since late July the armies of the western Allies have advanced from 300 to 500 miles, reconquering France, Belgium and most of Holland from their Nazi bosses. Navy American-British armies have reached the German frontier along its entire length, and have been in the first of the Allies to set foot on German soil.

Faced by the tremendous might of the newly created armies of the western Allies, Hitler's Reich is doomed. It did not seem possible a year ago, but since D-day the American-British "military idiots" have created the greatest fighting power ever developed in the history of war.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the Navy Dept.

CHURCHILL STALIN PARLEY WILL BRING CONCERTED ATTACK

V. M. Molotov, at this meeting A. Y. Vishinsky, deputy commissar for foreign affairs, also was present.

Follow Up To Quebec

Generally the meeting is considered a natural follow up to the recent Quebec conference which Stalin was unable to attend. Eden's presence in Moscow, however, led to belief that the subject of Poland will be high on the list of important matters to be clarified.

On his arrival in the Soviet capital Churchill again paid tribute to the Soviet war machine, crediting the red army with being the first to break the spirit of the German army.

"Over two years have passed since I arrived here last time, but these two years have been marked by an unbroken series of victories," the Moscow radio quoted Churchill as saying.

"All of us, from different parts of the world, fought our common foe who ruthlessly destroyed the peace of mankind, who accompanied every one of his steps with cruelty and terrible atrocities and upon whom the might of the United Nations is now descending.

Healing Nicely In England

Word has come to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Buntman of 1512 Hamilton street from their son, Cpl. Sam Buntman, now confined to a hospital in England, that he is improving nicely.

Cpl. Buntman sustained 12 shrapnel wounds in battle action in Normandy, France.

He says: "My arm and shoulder wounds are practically healed. Both leg casts were removed a few days ago, and in a few days I'll be wearing crutches. I had a bone broken (femur) in my right leg, but it is now healed after being in a cast for a month. I had a big hole in my left leg muscle, and the hole is filling up nicely, but still having it dressed. I had my wounds from mortar shell fragments. When hit, they didn't cause much pain, felt as if I had been hit with a bat."

Cpl. Buntman's brother, Hyman Buntman, was killed at Salerno, Italy, October 12, 1943; another brother, Cpl. Isaac Buntman, of the signal corps, is stationed in New Guinea, and another brother, Sgt. Ed Buntman of the supply service, is at Camp Lee, Va.

GAP FOR NAZIS EAST OF AACHEN ONLY MILE WIDE

Crucifix Hill at 2 a. m., and again at 6 a. m. Both of these attempts failed after being smothered by American artillery and mortars.

Snapped German Route

Other American infantry drove northeast and cut the Mönchshausen highway at a point near Herten. Mönchshausen is about eight miles south of Roetgen.

This snapped the important German communications route.

Other units were sent in as patrols near Haaren, a suburb of Aachen, bypassed Haaren last night. This morning they began an attack upon Haaren itself.

An army staff officer said this morning "there is some movement of vehicles near the mile wide gap at Aachen through our encircling forces."

The officer didn't say whether this movement was in or out of Aachen and refused to comment further on the matter.

Regarding this gap correspondents were reminded of the Falaise gap. A certain small outlier offers the enemy "a hell's highway" when the area can be brought under observation from artillery fire.

shadowed that they already were working on new ways to combat such German action.

It was recalled that one development which caused the allies some trouble for a while was the addition of remote-controlled anti-aircraft equipment aboard Nazi U-boats.

Instead of submerging when attacked by planes or blimps, the submarines for a while shot it out with allied air crews and a number of planes and blimps were destroyed.

The allies also were bothered for a while by a new type German acoustic "homing" torpedo which was attracted by the sound of ships propellers but America and Britain eventually counteracted the weapon.

There had been some speculation about the possibility that the Germans could launch "buzz" bombs from subs against American coastal cities but military experts said that only token raids could be undertaken by the Nazis so late in the war.

In their monthly statement on U-boat activities, the president and Churchill said that despite the September lull in submarine activity against the German submarine menace must be maintained.

AMERICAN FORCES ALMOST ENCIRCLE CENTER OF AACHEN

had entered the southern part of Aachen but claimed that the Yanks were driven out.

The Yanks of the First Army, still encountering fierce resistance from the Nazis, smashed out a gain of 600 yards in the vicinity of Oden, north of Aachen.

An official spokesman at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said that an escape gap of a mile and one-half still remained open to the enemy although the city was considered virtually sealed off since American guns commanded the whole area.

Reduced To Mile

A Reuter dispatch from First Army headquarters said the Aachen gap had been reduced to one mile. After the Yanks commanded by Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges pressed ahead at Oden the Germans launched a counter-attack but the enemy effort to weaken the American grip was contained, headquarters said.

Tanks were employed by the Germans but to no avail.

American units advancing from the south in the area east of Aachen held their positions against several German counter-attacks near Verlaunheide.

Slight gains also were scored in the Hurtgen area against very heavy Nazi resistance.

Canadian and British forces in the Leopold canal bridgehead engaged the Germans in hard fighting and beat down a Nazi attempt to eliminate the bridgehead.

Bridgehead Units Aided

Although the bridgehead probably is less than 1,000 yards wide, it remains continuous, the headquarters spokesman said.

The forces battling in the bridgehead were aided considerably by amphibious units which landed on the south shore of the Scheldt river estuary. Headquarters said this operation definitely relieved pressure on the bridgehead and reported that

TRAILER CAMP - - WHAT FOR?

Why a trailer camp in New Castle? There is a lot of empty houses here, repaired and made available at high labor prices, and will be taxed the highest possible. Let the taxpayers get back some of their money.

There would be more houses finished, if workman put in half the hours that the soldier boys do in the trenches in France.

We made the best part of New Castle look like a mining town, by building a lot of houses of the same type, and with no yards.

What Will Be Fate Of The Ruhr?

What might be called the bull's-eye of all the shooting in Europe these days, as for many months past when bombing missions were planned—is the great coal, steel and iron district of the Ruhr. In its heyday the Ruhr contained more skilled labor, more heavy industry and a greater concentration of rail and water traffic than any other industrial region in the world.

Control of the Ruhr in the future may well be one of the determining factors of peace in Europe, because it is supreme in coal, was the world's second largest producer of iron and steel on which southern Europe depended and is or was the backbone of weapons of war, including aircraft.

The Ruhr emerged from the last war practically unscathed. American loans helped to make it more efficient than ever. Although many German industries were developed in more easily defended parts of the country, the Ruhr remained the heart of the whole industrial system.

In the period of reconstruction after the war the Ruhr will occupy a position of the utmost importance—like-wise in what, it is hoped, are the long years of peace ahead. Control and management of the district, therefore, pose one of the critical decisions for the United Nations.

The Allies appear agreed that Germany must not be permitted to use the Ruhr to rise to military power again and that the industrial moguls who have controlled it for selfish ends must be entirely ousted.

One suggestion is to make a Ruhr-Rhenish state under Belgian, Dutch and French leadership, with Rotterdam as the administrative center and chief outlet. Another proposal calls for dismemberment and removal of such industries as can be transported to Allied countries. A third plan is for the Allies, according to their war losses, to take majority ownership of all the principal corporations in Germany—the Ruhr being linked to most of them—and operate them through governmental or private control methods or a combination of both.

Poor Planning

Seven senators from the South and West, in an official report to Congress on decentralizing industry, propose to check expansion in the Middle West and Northeastern states to give other sections a chance to catch up. To do this the senators recommend that Government-owned war plants in the North be kept from reconverting after the war to peacetime production.

No New Deal "planned economy" or "regimentation" can match this proposal made by a group of Republican and Democratic senators. It is nothing less than a scheme to redistribute our industrial resources on the basis of sectional interests.

Industry has expanded in the Northeastern and Middle Western states because raw materials and an abundance of skilled labor have made production in these regions more effective and economical. If the plan of the senators should be adopted, every one in the United States would pay more for worse goods. The people of the South and West would suffer as well as those in the North.

It would be uneconomic for the North to attempt to grow cotton in hot-houses or to raise huge herds of cattle when other regions of the United States are better adapted to these purposes. Sectional politics is a poor guide to national development.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

A Stitch In Time

Today there are some 3,000 airports in our country, and the Civil Aeronautics Administration is recommending an additional 3,000, with major improvements for 1,600 existing fields. These figures emphasize the general scope of the great aviation development being witnessed in the United States.

In preliminary steps toward coordinated postwar airport development, forty-eight national organizations recently met as the "Joint Airport Users Conference." Speaking before the conference, Harry Meisel, of the Air Transport Association of America, outlining the basic problems to be faced, said: "Full realization and understanding of the respective roles which the Federal government, those of the states and those of the political subdivisions of the states can and must play in the establishment and progressive expansion of a national system of public airports, are essential. In other words, it is of the utmost importance that the specific powers of these three levels of government, with respect to the location, establishment, maintenance, operation and financing of public airports, be clearly enumerated and defined."

"Above all, however, legislative bodies in distributing such authorities and duties, must think and act in an unselfish and statesman-like manner, contemplating the greatest good for the greatest number of our communities and our citizens. Consideration of 'States' Rights' and 'Municipal Home Rule' on the one hand, must be made to balance with the 'National Security and Welfare' on the other in all Federal and state laws and municipal ordinances dealing with public airports."

Confused legislative actions relating to airport development and control would slow the growth of American aviation. It would also cost lives in unnecessary aircraft accidents. Representatives of the civil aviation industry are working to avoid these twin calamities.

Says Nisei Problem Brought Into Campaign

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—I've discovered out here what seems to me the silliest piece of deception—the self-deception, if you want to be charitable—that has yet been injected into this campaign. But at the same time it carries a charge of dynamite dangerous to play with in times like these.

Speakers at several Dewey meetings in California have asserted that the Japanese-American citizens removed from the west coast were relocated in pivotal states in the east so they could vote Democratic and return the new deal to office. This was part of the talk that Superior Judge Goodwin J. Knight of Los Angeles county made in Sacramento last month in opening the Republican campaign there.

Ninety-five per cent of the relocated Japs are registered Democrats, Judge Knight said. He intimated that their votes in such states as Illinois and Ohio might swing the election.

That's why they have porterhouse steak and hamburgers and go to the movies," he was quoted as saying.

Judge Knight tells me he based his statements on a newspaper column he read. He is now, he says, investigating the facts, which would seem to be the reverse of the order followed by responsible official holders.

"Charge Is Silly"

On the face of it, the charge is so silly that it would be hardly worth while refuting it if it were not tied up with the explosive issue of race hatred. The number of Japanese removed was less than 110,000. Of the total, approximately 70 per cent were American citizens by virtue of birth in this country.

Not more than 15,000 to 20,000, at the most, are eligible to vote. They are largely settled in war relocation camps in Utah, Idaho, Colorado and Wyoming. It is highly doubtful if any substantial number have established voting rights in these states, which cannot be considered pivotal.

This is an effort to trade, politically, on the race theme. It will make more difficult the final solution of a problem which for the entire west coast is bound to be grim.

What is to happen to the 75,000 Nisei, the Japanese-American citizens who were removed from their homes in this area in the emergency immediately following Pearl Harbor? That is a question which deeply concerns responsible officials here. So far, they have been unable to get any hint of policy from Washington.

Tragedy Of Nisei

The tragedy of the Nisei is one that cuts deeply into the pattern of thinking out here. They have proved their loyalty on many points of the war, and yet their families are regarded with suspicion and distrust at home.

Shortly before I left Washington, I talked with a friend just back from the Burns-Indy theater. He told how, at first, commanders in the field had been reluctant to use the Nisei. Then, after they had proved their worth and their loyalty, the demand for them was so great it exceeded the supply.

He told about one little Nisei who died at the front. He thought small for combat duty. After a while, however, this little-sized Japanese-American had persuaded his superior officer to let him go into the field. Absolutely fearless, on one occasion he took 20 Jap prisoners and brought them back alive across a river.

They have been especially valuable, of course, in intelligence and propaganda work. In advance patrols, they often completely deceive the enemy and give us an advantage we could not possibly have otherwise. What is disheartening to these American soldiers is to get letters from home telling of the ill will and suspicion that is the lot of their families.

Understandably, it is hard for those whose nearest and dearest have suffered torture and death at the hands of the Japs to be tolerant. But those who deliberately inject race into politics do a vicious wrong to the whole country. We're going to have a hard enough time steering a straight course, without that.

GIRL WHO DREADS SHOPPING

"My Dear Dr. Myers: I have a terrible time when I go out shopping for my clothes by myself. I become confused and can't decide what I want and then when I carry it home I regret buying it. I dread going shopping alone and try to take my sister along. I know, as good taste along with me. I rely on her judgment but I want to be able to depend on myself.

"Some years back I overheard my mother pass a remark to someone that my sister has better taste in clothes than I, and being of a sensitive nature, that remark hurt me very much. Ever since I have no confidence in my judgment. Do you think that bears any significance to the matter? Please write and tell me, in the stamped enclosed envelope."

WINNING AN INDIFFERENT MAN

"The man I prefer for a husband is evidently tired of me. To win him back, I am being as compliant as possible, breaking for him dates with others and trying not to resist his embraces—as I did early in our friendship, when he deserved them much more than he has lately. Have you any advice as to how I can win back?—Eve."

Answer: Unwittingly, you have given me the key to your problem in your revelation that he was more devoted in the days when you resisted his embraces. In other words, in those days—as the slang expression now puts it—you "played hard to get" and that strategy was successful. Try it again and it's ten to one he'll be pursuing you again as avidly as he did then. He is evidently of the preponderant type that is repelled by girls who are too compliant, too generous with their embraces. He is evidently a young man who in his mind brags to himself that there are better fish in the sea than have ever been caught. Such is youth. Middle-aged men are seldom, if ever, won by indifference. To them life seems too short for such struggles and battles. Their nerves are too worn to endure them. They have outgrown their conceit in matters of the heart; unless they are very rich and are foolish enough to believe that their personalities, rather than their gold, attracts the opposite sex.

Question: My brother, who is in the service, is to be married soon in a quiet wedding, after which there will be a dinner party for merely the wedding party (best man and maid-of-honor) and the parents of the bride and groom. My young brother will be best man and his wife feels hurt at not being invited to the dinner. Should she be invited?—Sister.

Answer: Yes. The husbands and wives of the members of the bride party should be invited to both the reception and the ceremony no matter how informal and small the affair will be.

Comrades Chuckled At Repudiation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. MR. ROOSEVELT'S "repudiation" last Thursday of his Communist support was an extremely phony performance. Actually, he did not repudiate anything. All he did was say "I have never sought and I do not welcome the support of any group committed to Communism or Fascism or any other ideology which would undermine the American system of government or of free enterprise and private property."

EVERY comrade in the country must have chuckled over that. It was stuff for the gallery, slick but meaningless, and there was not the remotest chance of losing a single Communist vote. In fact, there isn't any way for Mr. Roosevelt to lose a Communist vote. He will get them all—the last man and woman, as well he knows. It will be recalled that recently the President scornfully referred to persons who "talk out of both sides of their mouth at the same time," and despite an amazing record to the contrary, unctuously expressed thanks he was not as one of these.

YET, it is difficult to recall a more flagrant case of double talk than this. Because, when the President said he does not welcome the support of any Communist committed to the overthrow of our system, he was perfectly aware that, months ago, for purposes of this campaign, the Communists officially ceased being Communists, abandoned their party, proclaimed their belief in Americanism, to men and women, whose policies they accepted "toward our goal." All this is a matter of record. All this has been repeatedly set out in the Communist speeches and publications. All this is a calculated piece of Communist strategy and so recognized. No one knows this better than he who when he "repudiated" Communism was working to overthrow our system, he repudiated something that no longer exists—officially. Wearing their false whiskers and fraudulent lives, they are all Democrats now, working for Mr. Roosevelt, and more dangerous now because disguised.

CONSIDERING these facts, it is not surprising that any Communist with even a rudimentary sense of humor should enjoy Mr. Roosevelt's "repudiation." Because, the fact is Mr. Roosevelt really could have denounced them, shown up their game, jaded them out of the Democratic party and still retained full support. But, Mr. Roosevelt did not denounce them. He didn't tell the truth about them. He didn't "repudiate" them. His words were weasel words and his statement not in the least or the level. His denunciations were reserved for those who preserve the provable facts about his Communist support. These he referred to as "political propagandists dragging red banners across the path of this election." These he called "labor baiters" and "bigots."

ALL OF which makes worth recalling that a week before Mr. Roosevelt spoke, Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling of the special House Committee on the Un-American Activities of the CIO-PAC, made a preliminary report in which he presented evidence "which makes it clear that the CIO-PAC is a by-product of the Communist party and that its program in certain sections is now being directed by well-known Communist leaders." Disregarding the Hillman denials, Mr. Stripling proceeds to name these Communist leaders and give their records. Of the 141 members of the PAC announced by Mr. Hillman, he says that over 90 per cent had affiliations with the Communist party. He stated further that the PAC is not run by labor leaders but by former Administration saboteurs, that the telephone records show an extraordinary number of White House calls by PAC agents and that in a number of cases the key men of the PAC are known Communists. All of these allegations were supported by data and all were repeated a week before Mr. Roosevelt spoke. And all were ignored.

IN HIS speech, Mr. Roosevelt tried to convey the impression, first, that he has no Communist support; second, that whatever he has is negligible; third, that any suggestion that he will profit by this support is wicked. The truth is the Communists are the most ardent, articulate and enthusiastic group supporting his candidacy and so far from being negligible as to numbers, all one need point out is—first, that the American Labor Party of New York is concededly Communist controlled; second, that the ALP is the most solidly organized unit in the country; third, that four years ago it cast 417,000 votes for Mr. Roosevelt; fourth, that Mr. Roosevelt carried New York over Mr. Wilkie by only 224,000 votes; fifth, that the minimum estimate of the ALP's vote this year is 450,000 and every one is a Roosevelt vote. Add that up and see if it is negligible. Add that up and see if the number of Communists is so small that they do not count in the election. Consider that they control 450,000 votes in our largest State with 47 electoral votes and then ask whether they are important politically. Without that vote Mr. Roosevelt could not have carried New York in 1940 and without it there would not be a chance of his carrying it on November 7. Add all that up and then ask who is drawing the red herrings across the trail. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

No Trace Of Booklet On Woolfish Solons
Straws In Wind Show Trend Back To Home
Boys Abroad Are Too Busy To Be Carefree

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. Having been called at some time after 1 a. m., the other morning by an excited city editor with the question, "What do YOU know about that booklet some people say is being printed by members of Congress who are garter snappers and such?" I quite properly conducted the next day—or was it the same day—my own private inquiry into "that booklet."

That booklet, according to the stories, was being prepared by newspapermen in the Senate and House press galleries as a sort of guide to which senators and congressmen were most woolfish and how and when, and how to avoid the jolly little ways of said voloes.

Well, if there is such a booklet, guide, handbook or handout in existence, I'm the world's worst reporter. I could not track down even a rough copy of the supposed manual. Not one of the 20 knowing newspapermen I interviewed had heard of it. It was their opinion, and it's mine, too, that the story was concocted by a bored male reporter who, having got tired of dull speeches on post-war perfection, decided to whip up a little sensation.

Undoubtedly, the newspapermen said, and in this I also agree, Washington is a First Name and a Laying On of Hands Town. Most any member of Congress or office holder, particularly in a campaign year, is likely to be extra friendly. But as for the garter snapping and such, who that's as out of date as horse and buggy days. And kinda goofy besides.

She Didn't Make Speeches
"Even on this gala day in the life of Frances Dewey, she manages somehow to retire into the background. She didn't make a speech. After Sapina's warm tribute in the public square, and the presentation of a little bouquet of flowers, she just smiled happily and sat down." From a report of Governor Dewey's campaign trip through Oklahoma.

Say the words again. "She didn't make a speech." She just smiled happily and sat down." You get a pleasant picture. A picture that pleases the mental eyes and traveling to the ears is soothing. The whole effect is somehow comforting.

Maybe the effect is more than comforting. Maybe it is prophetic. The woman of the future, for a few years anyhow, may be like Frances Dewey. The post-war woman after her struggle in a man-deserted world may be anxious to return to the relatively relaxing role of retreating into the background smiling happily and saying nothing.

Some straws in the wind point to a revival of the institution of the home. A sort of inspired revival. The department of labor by way of its women's division is conducting a careful national inquiry into the post-war plans of women workers in industry. It is too early to say the women's division is conducting a careful national inquiry into the post-war plans of women workers in industry. It is too early to say the women's division is conducting a careful national inquiry into the post-war plans of women workers in industry.

Already the Women's Army Corps the WAVES and other corresponding groups are receiving many resignations from former enthusiasts. "I'll have to leave you," is the explanation. "My husband is coming back."

The Woman Left Behind

The theme of Rose Franklin's "Soldier's Wife," now running at the National theater, inspired a group of servicemen on furlough in the capital with a nice discussion yesterday. There was not a dissenting vote on the theory that the woman the soldier leaves behind him has a job to perform that is both tough and delicate.

She must adjust herself to living alone. She must be very careful, however, not to be too successful at living alone. For if she does, she will become too independent to take up life again as the wife of the man who went away.

There is a lot of silly talk about the over-carefree ways of the men abroad. Insured perhaps by a camera kiss or a boastful letter back home. But, so the servicemen insisted, and they sounded as if they were speaking the truth, the men overseas are not roasting away, taking the town to pieces when they get a chance. In the first place, they are too busy killing and keeping from being killed to have much chance for wild orgies. In the second place, they seldom stay long enough in any one place to make a lasting attachment. And in the third place, they generally isn't anybody around whom they particularly want to have a fling. Distance and loneliness has made them idealize the wives they left at home.

Defense Council Says Service Not To Be Abandoned

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—(INS)—The state defense council announced today that despite the "presently encouraging aspect of the war," the protective services will not be disbanded until the president declares that a state of war no longer exists.

"Civilian defense has been charged with those measures essential to the protection of the people of the United States and which cannot be assumed by our armed forces," said Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, director, in letters to county chairmen. "The presently encouraging aspect of the war does not change these responsibilities."

The protective services of civilian defense, therefore, ought not and cannot be dispensed until the president has declared that a state of war no longer exists," he added.

"All services, units, control centers and personnel are to be ready for any emergency which may arise in the further developments of this war," Hutchison stated.

"The well-recognized probability that air raids will not occur within these United States presents a peculiar difficulty for those services which are prepared for that particular emergency," he added.

"However," he pointed out, "the rules and regulations governing air raid precautions were promulgated by the army of the United States and will remain in force until the army announces otherwise."

MILITARY BALLOTS

Within a few days Lawrence County will have back twenty-five per cent of the military ballots sent out to men and women in service.
At noon Monday there had been returned 1536 ballots out of 7024 sent out, and election is still a month away.
About 60 of the ballots were sent back for better addresses and of this 60 Miss Louise Micco who is receiving the military ballots found 40 of the addresses. She is working on the other twenty. Seven ballots were returned from men who had been discharged from service. Thirty-two ballots came back unsigned
by the service man or woman, although their signature apparently was on the front of the envelope showing their address. A few had the return address typewritten.
Twenty-five ballots came back without being notarized. The law says the outside ballot shall be signed by the service man or woman and notarized. What disposition will be made of these ballots will probably be a matter for the court to decide.
The ballots will be counted on November 22 and all envelopes bearing the stamp of November 7 will be counted. In other words if a man in New Guinea or France or North Africa does not fill his ballot out until November 7 and then mailed it, it will be counted if it gets back to the board of elections on or before November 22.

503 DISCHARGES RECORDED

You may be surprised at the number of service men in the county who have been discharged.
The exact figure is not known but already 503 discharges have been recorded in the office of Orville Potter, Register and Recorder.
Every service man or woman should have his discharge recorded in order to have a record of it in case it is lost or destroyed in some manner. Mr. Potter makes no charge for the record of discharges and it takes but a little time and trouble to get it to the court house.

CIVIL COURT

For the first time since April,
civil court opened Monday morning with about half a dozen cases awaiting trial.
In number one court room before Judge W. Walter French the case of J. Murdock French of Allegheny county against Norman Fisher came to trial. This is a case arising out of a collision of the automobiles of the litigant's son January 31, 1944 on Highway No. 422 at 5 P. M. near Rose Point. The plaintiff claims the defendant attempted to pass a car ahead of him and collided with the plaintiff's car as a result.
In court room number two before Judge John G. Lamoree the case of Andrew Pfahles against Ralph Heller came to trial. This is a case where the plaintiff alleges that he entered into a contract with the defendant to alter a home on Sampson street to provide two dwelling places. The plaintiff claims he did the work but that the defendant has failed to pay the balance due on the contract. The defendant argues that he does not owe the balance averting part of the work was done improperly and that he furnished certain materials. The jury was taken to the home in question on Monday morning.

and blue shooting skyward from powerful searchlights, with spotlights rivaling the light of day as they played on Governor Dewey himself, Mrs. Dewey and others as they participated in the program.
Leo Carillo, who leads almost every parade worth while in California,
and taking no chances on a dimout,
had his own prancing palomino mount, streamlined with multi-colored lights, and as Governor Dewey and his entourage entered the Coliseum and circled the arena, the applause, bands of music and the blaze of illumination were magnificent.

Jeannette MacDonald was to have set off the show singing "The Star Spangled Banner" but a last minute throat affection prevented her appearance. Ginger Rogers, vice chairman of the Hollywood-for-Dewey Club, presented Governor
Earl Warren who in turn introduced the man he called "the next President of the United States."
Ruth Hussey presented a beautiful bouquet to Mrs. Dewey and Mrs.
Warren received a like token from Frances Dee, Governor Dewey having been warned in advance that he was to be cordially welcomed by a bevy of Hollywood's most beautiful and gorgeous motion picture actresses, is said to have cautioned the committee against making that part of his reception too conspicuous.
The world at large might misconstrue the camaraderie of the Hollywood technique. But the Governor relaxed and threw caution to the winds when he was surrounded by Barbara Stanwyck, Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Claire Trevor, and because to them his most gracious smile as they looked him straight in the eye and with their most bewitching smiles wished him success in his campaign. And who wouldn't?
He wouldn't make much of a President otherwise. No, Dewey is not so cold.

I write this because I did not like the account of this political rally as given by Time Magazine. Time spoke of it as "the most fabulous and 'phony' yet effective, political demonstration of the campaign."
And again Time spoke of a "one-minute cheer" when you listened to this great performance in Los Angeles, over the radio, you realized that the cheer that greeted Governor Dewey was limited to one minute. I believe that the demonstration could not be considered
"phony" when practically every seat in the Coliseum was occupied and the people did not come because of Cecil DeMille; they came to welcome Dewey. And while I believe that not many campaign speeches
cause citizens to change their vote,
I do know that there will be more votes for Dewey in Los Angeles and California than the Sage of Princeton indicates in his poll.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

is clear that you have a great deal of unhappiness over shopping. That one unfortunate remark of your mother years ago could have caused the trouble. It was but an item, of course, in the very complicated series of suggestions to you of your relative inferiority about taste in clothes which you were, and still are, exposed to from your family.

Relatives Could Help

Perhaps I could do most for you if you would let me write your mother and your sister. Since they did most to create your inferiority feeling relative to shopping, they might do most to help you get rid of these feelings and to gain self-confidence in your own judgment.
If I were you I would never take that sister along shopping again.
I would make my purchases with the resolve not to return them and to try to like them afterwards. Any unfavorable remarks from the relatives about my clothes I would consider an insult and tell them so.

Let me suggest that you go to your public library and ask an attendant there to let you see some books and articles on choosing clothes. A number of good ones have been written. This reading should do much to give you more self-confidence in the choice of your own clothes.

Parents Should Use Tact
This case ought to be a useful warning to mothers of younger children. You have the opportunity to help your child escape considerable needless unhappiness in regard to shopping. If you will guard all your statements and actions in respect to his ability to choose and to be satisfied thereafter with that choice.
And think of the annoyance and men would escape! We need to remember that a single ill-considered mark to a child by a parent might arouse an unhappy association for a lifetime.

Let me urge mothers of younger children to encourage them to help gradually to choose their own clothes with the hope they will be able to shop alone by the time they are in high school and keep within a budget or allowance.

New Warning Given Germans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—The United States government today issued a fresh warning that Nazi officials "will be brought to justice and pay the penalty for their heinous crimes."

The warning was issued after the government received reliable information that German officials in Poland are making plans for the extermination of tens of thousands of innocent persons of Polish and other United Nations nationalities.

This information has come from the Polish government. It likewise mentioned danger to Jewish deportees from areas under German control who are now held in concentration camps, particularly those at Berezinski and Oswiecim.

Guilty Will Pay

The warning, which was formally released by the State Department, was directed to the German government and Nazi officials. It said that "if these plans are carried out, those guilty of such murderous acts will be brought to justice and pay the penalty for their heinous crimes."

This was in line with the repeated declarations of this and other Allied governments, including the Four-Power declaration at Moscow, that Nazi officials found responsible for war crimes "will be brought back to the scene of their crimes and judged on the spot by the peoples whom they have outraged."

At the same time, the State Department made it clear that there is no direct American participation in the Stalin-Churchill-Eden conversations now going on in Moscow.

Plot Available For Skating Pond

Mayor John F. Haven today reported that the Pennsylvania railroad, according to Superintendent P. W. Triplett, was willing to lease to the mayor's recreation project committee a plot of ground along the railroad property and Atlantic avenue for ice skating this winter.

The area is west of the tracks and north of Mahoning avenue.

The plot is 850 feet long and 350 feet wide.

A natural water course exists there and it is not believed, according to Mayor Haven, there will be any difficulty in obtaining sufficient water to freeze.

It will be available free to all children of the city, he stated.

The offer to lease the property to the project committee will be lodged before the committee when it meets in the near future, the mayor said.

City Hall Third Floor To Be Used For Swing Lobby

Mayor John F. Haven today reported that council had approved the conversion of the auditorium, third floor, city hall, for the mayor's recreation project committee, and that it would be turned over to the Swing Lobby. The committee will appoint a supervisor.

The large room should be ideal for dancing. It will be painted and booths will be placed.

There will be a lunch bar and soft beverages.

A juke box will be installed and children 12 years and up will be allowed to dance in the room.

The Swing Lobby will operate once a week.

The mayor announced that inspectors had inspected the building, found it safe and that it has been approved for recreation purposes.

New Crisis Inside Germany Rumored

No Foreign Correspondent Has Been Allowed To Communicate With Paper Since Sunday

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Worldwide speculation about events inside the Reich was aroused today by the interruption of all telephone communications with Stockholm, now lasting for 54 hours.

No foreign correspondent in Berlin has been allowed to communicate with his paper since Sunday morning, 10:00 a. m. The last time such a complete blackout of independent news was clamped down on Germany was during the early stages of the crisis caused in July by the military conspiracy against Hitler.

German propaganda services have been functioning with perfect normality in the past two days, including even the broadcast summaries of the Wilhelmstrasse conferences for the muzzled foreign press correspondents.

Curtain Of Silence

Today, however, the news agency service for the German press went out of its way to stress that Hitler had cabled a reply to a recent report by Hans Axmann, Reich leader of the Hitler youth. The reply as quoted by the agency was undated.

In London it is no longer considered likely that mere cable damage due to the air raid on Berlin would be an adequate explanation for this prolonged interruption of communications at the present critical time.

Either the curtain of silence has been drawn over the Reich while its leaders are once more considering the disposition of their remaining forces in the face of the resumption of the Russian offensive and particularly the threat to Germany's open southeastern flank; or the smoldering political crisis has really come into the open again.

Roosevelt Assures Chiang Kai-Shek

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—President Roosevelt sent a personal message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today declaring that "complete victory is now vouchsafed," and characterizing the current Japanese thrusts as "the aggressor's last desperate endeavors."

The immediate decision of the message was the 33rd anniversary of the republic of China. The spirit of the message, however, was clearly intended to convey encouragement in the face of recent Japanese advances in southern China.

The president said: "Aware of the difficult military situation confronting the valiant Chinese armies, we have special happiness in sharing with them the inspiring knowledge that complete victory is now vouchsafed and that China's sacrifices to frustrate the aggressor's last desperate endeavors will play an important part in facilitating and hastening the final Allied drive that is fast gathering with overpowering might."

Says Not All Of Jap Flags Sent Home Authentic

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Those Japanese battle flags which American fighters in the Pacific battle areas have been sending home are not all 100 per cent authentic, a former Seabee revealed in Chicago today.

Harold J. Harrison the ex-Seabee, said enterprising servicemen make some of the "genuine souvenir Japanese flags" and sell them. He explained the production method as:

Take a piece of parachute cloth the size of a Jap flag. Cover a coffee tin with heavy red paint and press it to the cloth until the paint soaks through. Add a few characters from the Jap language and offer to fellow fighters at prices up to $50.

Why Housewives Can Still Get Food in Cans

Much of the food the housewife buys in cans today would not be available were it not for the new electrolytic tinning process developed by U. S. Steel. Our armed forces and lend-lease requirements have first call on the limited tin supply, but this revolutionary method of tinning saves two-thirds of the tin formerly used, and makes it possible also to provide a large proportion of cans needed for civilian foods. This electrolytic method produces an amazingly thin, uniform coating, and, with it, U. S. Steel alone has saved the nation more than five million pounds of tin to date.

Alleged Slayer Faces Grand Jury

Grand Jury To Hear Accused Ex-Marine In Rape-Garrot Slaying Of Marie Berrum

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Pfc. Earl McFarland, 21-year-old Marine veteran of Guadalcanal, charged with the rape-murder of pretty Dorothy Marie Berrum, 18-year-old government worker, was scheduled to appear before a grand jury today.

A six-man coroner's jury held the boyish-looking South Pacific veteran a "responsible" for the death of the girl, whose ravished body, garroted with her brightly colored shawl, was found last Friday on a golf course near the Potomac river. McFarland appeared before the U. S. commissioner shortly before the inquest and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of first degree murder.

Ask Death Penalty
Assistant U. S. Attorney John W. Elbely, who represented the government before the coroner's jury and who will handle the case when it is brought to trial in district court, said a double-barreled prosecution is planned against McFarland.

"First, we shall ask for the death penalty for deliberate and premeditated murder by the use of an instrument—in this case, the dead girl's shawl," he said. "Second, we shall seek a first degree conviction for death brought about in commission of a felony—in this case rape."

One of the guests was Lieut. Kenneth Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Evans of the seventh ward, who has been in the armed forces for nearly four years. Lieut. Evans is home on leave after spending over two years in the air forces in England and vicinity. He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross as well as other citations. He has had over 35 missions to his credit, taking part in many raids over France and Germany and participated in the D-day offensive over France. The lieutenant, while a modest young man, related many unusual as well as interesting experiences, some being quite amusing.

Ensign C. R. Denney of the navy air corps, another of the guests, who has had two years service to his credit in that branch of the service, also spoke in a most interesting manner as well as William Cushman, who was a mechanic in the air forces until discharged on account of his hearing. He and Ensign Denney also reside in the seventh ward.

Past Commander C. Ed Brown was master of ceremonies and introduced the guest speakers.

Later in the evening refreshments were served by members of the ladies auxiliary.

Asserts Willkie Did Not Plan To Support Democrats

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 10.—(INS)—The late Wendell L. Willkie did not intend to support the Democratic party in this campaign, according to Ralph H. Cake, who managed Willkie's campaign for the 1944 Republican nomination which he gave up after being defeated in the Wisconsin primaries.

Cake, Republican national committeeman from Oregon, referred to radio statements by Drew Pearson, radio commentator, that Willkie would have voted for Roosevelt.

"It is my opinion gathered from continuous talks with Mr. Willkie that the statement attributed to Mr. Willkie by Mr. Pearson does not accurately reflect the attitude held by Mr. Willkie. I am confident he did not intend to support the Democratic party in this campaign."

Cake said he was sorry that so soon after Willkie's death "an attempt had been made by certain parties to make political use of purported conversations with Willkie."

Registration In New York Heavy

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Intense interest in next month's presidential election was evident today as figures for New York City's first day of registration were made public.

Registration for the first day is only some 20,000 behind the first day for registration in 1940, despite the fact that some hundreds of thousands of servicemen are absent from the city. In 1940 it was 457,709; today first figures total 436,263.

The figure was almost three times that of a year ago when an "off-year" election was held.

Nicaraguan Rebels Battle Costa Ricans

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Late reports on the border clash between Nicaraguan rebels and Costa Rican troops at Los Chiles said today that five Nicaraguan rebels, including one woman, had been killed.

The reports added that there were numerous wounded on both sides in the affair which cost the life of the Nicaraguan rebel leader, Gen. Noguera Gomez.

The two forces engaged in the clash were reported to be small, with some 45 Nicaraguan rebels and 120 Costa Rican troops participating.

SON OF FORMER RESIDENT MISSING

Word has been received here that Pfc. John H. Gwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Gwin of Alliance, O., has been listed as missing in action by the war department.

His grandparents, now deceased, were Mr. and Mrs. John Gwin, who resided for many years on Highland avenue and he has a number of relatives in Lawrence county.

Claim Support Of Willkie Was To Go To Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Claims that Wendell Willkie, had he lived, would have voted for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the presidential election received further support today from publisher Malcolm Muir of the magazine Newsweek.

Muir's periodical announced today that its October 12 issue would say Willkie told the publisher last July that he "planned to remain aloof until the final weeks of the campaign, when he would announce that he would vote for Dewey."

Up to the time of his death Willkie had not publicly announced which White House candidate he would support. But radio commentator Drew Pearson claimed Willkie would have voted for Mr. Roosevelt—an assertion subsequently denied by Willkie's brother, H. Frederick Willkie, publisher Henry Luce and Sen. Sinclair Weeks.

NORTH BRADDOCK MAN IS SUICIDE

Illegal Cigaret Sales Uncovered

Some Stores Require That You Buy Razor Blades With Popular Brand Cigarets

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10.—(INS)—You can't have whisksers and cigarettes too.

That was the conclusion reached by the OPA in Pittsburgh today after receipt of complaints from smokers that they are being made the victims of tie-in sales. In some sections of the city, they reported, you can't buy popular brand cigarettes unless you also buy razor blades.

What effect that may have on women customers wasn't immediately clear; but at any rate, it is illegal, the OPA pointed out.

HOLD WOMAN IN DEATH OF BABY

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10.—(INS)—A 25-year-old Homewood woman was held for court today charged with killing her five-month-old baby by slashing its throat in the back yard of their home with a butcher knife.

Mrs. Mary Louise O'Brien, said

by detectives to have been a patient for several months at the Mayview City Home and Hospital, was sitting in the living room of her home when she suddenly picked up the baby, Robert Bruce, from a couch and rushed from the room.

In the kitchen, according to the authorities, Mrs. O'Brien grabbed the butcher knife and ran into the back yard, where she slashed the infant's throat, before horror-stricken members of her family could wrest the knife from her hand.

Her husband, John P. O'Brien, told police his wife had been despondent for some time and that he had stayed home from work more than a week to care for her.

No Commitment Of U. S. Forces To New Peace Move

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The uncertainty created by the coming national elections appeared today to have caused the American delegation at Dumbarton Oaks to avoid committing United States armed forces to the new international security organization.

Officials acknowledged that the Dumbarton Oaks document, published yesterday, does not make such a commitment. If the document were ratified in its present form, they said, the organization still would be powerless to use American force against an aggressor.

This significant disclosure was accompanied by a statement that the public is now expected to engage in a long period of press, radio, and forum discussion, and that senate reaction will be sought by Secretary of State Hull.

Avoid Firm Stand
This raised the belief in Washington that the administration wished to avoid taking a firm stand on the arms issue at a time when the character of the government might be changed in next month's election. It was this issue which caused the senate to reject American participation in the old League of Nations.

This omission from the document was not revealed until after a detailed oral explanation was provided late yesterday by American experts. The official text gave a contrary impression. It said:

"In order to enable urgent military measures to be taken by the organization, there should be held immediately available by the members of the organization national air force contingents for combined international enforcement action."

At Red Incident
Officials acknowledged that this paragraph was included on insistence from the Russian delegation. The original Russian plan contained a detailed proposal for putting down aggression by sending flights of bombing planes over the offending state.

In spite of the fact that the document says these forces "should be held immediately available," officials explained that in the use of American forces the senate would have to give approval in each case. And in view of the rule of unlimited senate debate, the approval might not be "immediate."

To avoid this weakness, officials said, it will be necessary to strengthen the language of the document. But this will not be attempted until the people, and their representatives in congress, have said they will support and ratify such a proposal.

FIGHT FOREST FIRES
HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians were called upon today by George H. Wirt, chief fire warden, to "blackout" forest fires during the dry season between October 15 and December 15.

"The woods are going to be dry very shortly," Wirt said, "and we want everyone to be especially careful with outdoor fires."

Wirt anticipated that most fires would be started by persons burning brush or careless hunters.

Gov. Dewey Attends Willkie Funeral

New York Governor In New York
For Final Tribute To Noted
American

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, leaving Albany to attend the funeral in New York City of Wendell L. Willkie, declared today that liberated Italy is a friend and ally, not just a co-belligerent, and that "the forces of freedom there are entitled to our aid."

In reference to United States-Italian relations, incorporated in a proclamation designating October 12 as Columbus Day, marked the fourth time in three days that the Republican presidential nominee has discussed foreign affairs.

On Sunday, in New York City, he attacked any move to dispose of the fate of Poland in "dim secrecy." Yesterday he issued a proclamation calling for greater aid to China and a statement referring to the tentative big four force-supported peace organization plan as a "fine beginning in a momentous task."

There is increasing evidence the GOP nominee believes he has driven home his contention that the Republicans can handle domestic economy better than the present administration, and that he has made it clear that a change in national administration will mean no change in military leadership and vigorous prosecution of the war.

That leaves foreign relations a subject in which millions of independent voters are keenly interested and upon which Governor Dewey is expected to say much more before November 7.

Gov. Dewey was due in New York about noon and he planned to start back for Albany soon after the conclusion of the Willkie funeral services. He will return to New York later in the week to register and to review the Columbus Day parade.

It is reported that he will deliver his next campaign speech in St. Louis on October 16.

Parking Meter Use Is General In This State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 10.—(INS)—Twenty per cent of the nation's parking meters have been installed in Pennsylvania and during 1943 revenues collected by 84 communities in the state totaled $1,085,541, the institute of local government at the Pennsylvania State College reported today.

The institute said 1942 collections in Pennsylvania amounted to $83,987 more than last year. Local authorities have installed 23,127 meters since Meadville approved the first devices in 1936. Fines for violating time limits range from fifty cents to $2.

"Thirty of the 84 Pennsylvania communities employing meters range in population from five to ten thousand," the institute said, "while 75 per cent of the cities with populations from twenty-five to fifty thousand already have installed the meter system."

City officials have installed varying numbers of meters ranging from 37 in Lehigh to 1400 in Pittsburgh. The institute reported 440 communities in the nation have approved parking meters.

FOOD AND NOURISHMENT
Food and nourishment are two different things. There are many articles of food which do not supply much nourishment.

Sugar, protein, fat, minerals, vitamins and water are all necessary for proper nutrition.

A person may be fat but not well nourished. Some people eat a great amount and still are not well fed. Perhaps protein is the most important item. It is supplied best by meat, eggs and milk products. Children need a larger amount of protein accordingly than adults do.

At the Sunday dinner, Phyllis should get a larger piece of chicken than grandpa. She uses the protein for new building material while he is only doing a repair job.

Fresh vegetables and fruits should be eaten as much as possible. They provide needed nourishment.

Near Junction Of New Ledo And Old Burma Roads

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)— Allied troops, fighting through the Salween river district of southwestern China and Burma, have reached positions from where a junction of the new Ledo and old Burma roads and a resulting good supply route into China can be foreseen. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell said Monday.

As reported by the Blue network, which made a transcription of his remarks, Stilwell said he wanted the American people to understand the importance of the China-India-Burma theater.

"The reason we are here," he remarked, "is simply that we are at war with Japan and this is one of the ways of setting it here."

Last Christmas eve, Stilwell continued, the allies decided to make a comeback in the Far East and tore into the Japanese 18th division, a tough and veteran outfit.

Today, he added, that division is annihilated, along with one and a third more enemy divisions, and the Ledo road, an incredible feat of army engineering, has been constructed in the wake of the fighting.

The British, Chinese and Americans, Stilwell said, have contributed equally to allied successes. He concluded:

"We are all out to lick the Japs. Together we will get it done more quickly than we can separately. And the sooner we get it over the sooner we will get home."

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

Anyone who has ever had Pin-Worms knows how embarrassing this affliction can be, and how hard it is to eliminate the ugly crawling creatures when they get a foothold inside the body.

Millions of people—babies and young children and grown-ups—have suffered in silence with the misery of Pin-Worms, and doctors have tried for years to find a way to deal with this pest. Old-fashioned worm "cures" usually don't work on Pin-Worms.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery (a remarkable drug known as gentian violet), a new and highly effective treatment has been hailed by doctors. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicine.

P-W makes it easy to deal with Pin-Worms. The small, convenient P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy the creatures. Don't take chances with Pin-Worms! Just ask your druggist for P-W, and be sure to follow the directions.

Eagles Ladies Fill Kits For Red Cross

Sixteen Items In Kit Given Soldiers At Embarkation Point; 500 Made Here

Ladies of the Eagles auxiliary have completed making and have filled 500 drawstring bags for the Red Cross for distribution to soldiers at the point of embarkation, also for distribution to soldiers at hospitals where they are taken after being wounded.

An inventory of what these bags contain includes 16 items: shoe polish and polish cloth, a pack of cigarettes, a cake of soap in a cup dish, a washcloth, shoeshine tin, razor blades, a pocket game, a pocket paper-backed book, a deck of cards, an address book, a writing tablet, envelopes and a pencil. Just what the boys need and want most at such a time. Last year there was a pack of chewing gum in them too but it was unavailable this year.

The kits are now in the chapter house waiting to have the shoe polish and wash cloth tucked into each one and they will then be ready for shipment.

Cost of what is contained in the kits is borne by the local Red Cross chapter. This averages $1.50 apiece or $750 for the 500 kits. The sturdy khaki herring-bone cotton material of which the bags are made is furnished by Red Cross area headquarters.

Eagles ladies who made up the bags and filled them plan to start work soon on 500 apron-style kits.

More Women Now In Federal Prisons

Although Federal Bureau Reports That Number Of Prisoners Is Lowest In 20 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—The bureau of federal prisons reported today that the number of women criminals has increased since Pearl Harbor while the total of male offenders has decreased.

The number of prisoners in federal institutions is the lowest in 20 years, but the number of long-termers has increased, the bureau said. Petty crimes are on the wane—people haven't time to commit petty crimes and potential criminals don't need the money gained from "small time" offenses such as burglaries.

The prison population has decreased by over 2,000 since Pearl Harbor, with a considerable decrease in new commitments, Bennett said.

A new class of prisoners has appeared, the report said, offenders violating the selective training and service act. In 1943 alone 3,145 men were sentenced for violating the act and 1,121 more were imprisoned for violating other national defense laws, including vice laws, illegal wearing of uniforms, rationing, black marketing, sedition and treason. There were also 511 military court martial prisoners, 62 assault cases, 49 sentenced for robbery and 40 for homicides, all in connection with military service.

At the same time, however, more than 125,000 prisoners have been paroled to service in the armed services. These men have made excellent records, Bennett said, and several have been heroes. These men make the same sort of record that men who have never been in prison achieve.

Juvenile delinquents have created the greatest problem, the report said. In 1943, over 2,000 persons under 17 years of age were sentenced, and the greatest part of these were boys.

Bennett said that the bureau of prisons is making plans to care for an expected increase in prisoners when the war ends and difficulties begin for both the discharged military and upset civilians.

Some New Orders To Draft Boards

Older Men Virtually Removed From Threat Of Induction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Selective service orders went out to the nation's draft boards today virtually removing the threat of induction from three large groups of draft registrants—the 38 to 45 year olds, those classified for limited service and discharged servicemen.

The armed forces for some time have not been calling men in these three categories but their fate has been uncertain until issuance of the new rulings.

Under the new regulations, registrants 38 through 44 will be placed in class 4-A, a class former reserved for men 45 and over. The armed forces have been passing over induction of men beyond 38 but those in this group have been classified in the same manner as all other registrants except that their classification was identified by the letter "H," an administrative device to make them available for induction as a class if the policy on age were to change.

Class 1-A-L, formerly reserved for registrants qualified only for limited military duty, was ordered discontinued. Those now in that class will be shifted into class 2-A, 2-B and 2-C if they are entitled to occupational deferment. Those physically disqualified will be reclassified as 4-F.

Honorably discharged servicemen will be retained in class 1-C, the classification used for those who have been inducted into military service, and may be reclassified only with the permission of Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Both the army and navy have been limiting their demands in recent months to calls for men of combat caliber for actual front line replacements.

Sees Huge World Markets For U.S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)—George S. Messersmith, American ambassador to Mexico, told a group of American exporters today that their future markets can surpass "anything hitherto realized". At the same time he warned Germany and Japan that they would never again "regain the preponderant position they enjoyed in world commerce."

Speaking at the annual meeting of the National Foreign Trade Council, Messersmith forecast that the "successes developed in the laboratories of war" and the "vast numbers of added customers at home and abroad" will give American goods an opportunity to be sold abroad more widely than ever before.

He acknowledged, however, "the difficult problem of how we are to be paid for those goods" and urged that tariff and other barriers against goods from abroad should be let down.

His speech was seen as a new appeal for the low tariff policy of Secretary of State Hull, based on the principle that the United States must be willing to import goods from abroad to create the foreign purchasing power for American exports.

On the question of future trade with Latin America, Messersmith advocated "the granting of more complete credit facilities, particularly to purchasers in this hemisphere."

Seek To Prevent Flood Of Swiss Watches In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—The state department was learned today, is considering a proposal designed to safeguard thousands of returning servicemen from possible unemployment by preventing Swiss watches from flooding American markets.

The proposal was offered by Rep. Holmes (R) Mass., in a letter to secretary of state Cordell Hull warning that thousands of returning soldiers will be jobless if American markets are swamped by products of Swiss watch factories.

Holmes appealed to Hull to notify Switzerland that either it prevent the products of Swiss watch factories from being "dumped in American markets—thus destroying possible job opportunities of discharged service men"—or the department will take steps terminating this reciprocal trade treaty.

Under provisions of the reciprocal trade treaty the state department is authorized to terminate the trade treaty on 30 days notice.

An informed state department source, acknowledging receipt of the letter, asserted that an appropriate reply is studying the proposal and gave assurance that an answer is forthcoming.

Dropped In Aachen Urging Surrender

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

AT THE AACHEN RAILROAD, Oct. 10.—American artillery spewed into German lines today 12,000 printed notices calling upon the enemy garrison inside Aachen to surrender and reiterating a warning delivered to Nazi commanders just a few hours earlier that the doughboys stand ready to destroy the city if necessary.

The barrage was loosed at 2 p.m. and informed the enemy troops that their commanders had been given 24 hours at 10:55 a.m. today to surrender unconditionally.

"There is no time to lose," the leaflets warned. "On our airfields are bombers waiting the final order to take off, artillery surrounding the city is ready to fire. Our troops are alerted for the final advance."

"Go now to those responsible and make them stop useless bloodshed and destruction. The time has come for your civilian leaders to speak out boldly."

"There is only one choice—honorable and immediate surrender—or complete destruction."

Earlier, a force party of three American soldiers carried the original surrender ultimatum into the German lines and returned.

The colors lose their cleanness and the rug itself suffers because of the vigorous washing it must undergo to loosen embedded dirt. # 'Tojo May Have Made Mistake'

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Some Japanese troops captured in Netherlands New Guinea are beginning to doubt the inevitability of a Japanese victory in the Pacific and at least one Japanese officer has admitted that Tojo was wrong, an ANETA dispatch from Melbourne said today.

But for the most part, the captured Japanese are convinced of the invincibility of Nippon and simply refuse to believe the news of allied successes when it is related to them.

Prince Hadji Abdulkadir Widjojoatmodjo, 40-year-old Japanese nobleman who is now senior officer of the Netherlands Indies civil administration on Blak Island, where he landed with American forces on D-Day, told about morale among captured Japanese troops on his arrival in Melbourne on a brief visit.

One day, he said he ordered one of his patrols to go out and capture the commanding officer of the Japanese minefield (the navigation department supplying administrative officers for the eastern islands of the Netherlands Indies and bring him back alive. The patrol got their man, put him in a cage and covered him over with leaves.

When the patrol touched land on their return it was night. They lifted the branches and leaves covering their prisoner, and he saw lights gleaming along the shores at positions now held by the allies—the first time he had seen lights burning at night in two years. When the significance of the scene hit him, the Japanese officer burst into tears.

Later Abdulkadir questioned him and asked why the Japanese did not give up. "The officer replied in Malay, 'I do think Tojo made a little mistake.'"

Would Allocate Axis Shipping

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Vice-Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the U. S. Maritime Commission, was on record today as urging that American ships be allocated one-third of Axis nation's post-war shipping, with the other two-thirds going to Maritime European members of the United Nations.

If final peace terms deprive Germany and Japan from operating any Merchant Marine for a number of years, Adm. Land said in an address before the National Foreign Trade Convention, "we can develop additional trade and make use of additional shipping facilities."

He said America, as a result of its enormous wartime expansion of shipping now has "all the elements necessary to restore its eminence as a Maritime nation."

WHEN COMMANDER FLAGG RESUMES HIS PLACE AS A Leader of Industry

★ On a mere speck of land, a thousand miles from nowhere, Commander Flagg helps to keep America's fighting ships in tip-top shape.

It is his responsibility to make sure that repair parts, gasoline...all the things needed by our Navy...are on the spot. His war is a war of supply...of transportation. And he knows his success is dependent on the efficiency of his suppliers...to those who move the goods.

When the Commander returns as the head of a peacetime business, he'll have a real and intimate knowledge of transportation's value. He'll look to railroads for service that is reliable and convenient—fitted to his immediate needs.

He'll find the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, with its 70,000 workers and 11,000 miles of track, ready to fulfill these desires to the utmost. For in our work for war, we also are planning for peace...planning B&O service that Americans will appreciate, more than ever, in the years to come.

B. B. WHITE, President

Little jobs around the house can be done with a home-made wood filler. Here is the formula: Melt one ounce of white resin and an ounce of yellow wax in a pan and add enough oiler to match the wood you are using. Stir the ingredients thoroughly and use it while it is hot. A good wood filler costs about 25 cents a can.

Declares Japs Are Licked And Also Know It

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FAR EAST AIR FORCE, SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 10.—(INS)—“The Jap is licked and he knows it.”

“His first team is gone and it will take him years to recover from the reverses he has suffered in the last six months.”

This was the considered verdict today of Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of American Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific who said with his characteristic vigor in an exclusive interview with International News Service that America already has fought the decisive battle of the Pacific and has overwhelmingly won it.

“He (the enemy) has lost the Pacific war and his critical defense line—reaching in an arc from Wewak, through the Solomons, Admiralties and Rabaul—were either by-passed or destroyed,” Gen. Kenney said.

Jap Losses Heavy

Pointing out that the Japs have been “bled white” by the combined teamwork of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. William F. Halsey in their southwest Pacific campaign, Kenney set the Japanese air losses at in excess of 5,000 airplanes destroyed and nearly 2,000,000 tons of shipping sunk in direct connection with the New Guinea-New Britain-Solomons operations.

“No nation can win modern wars without a preponderance of air power and air control over every battlefield. The Jap has been beaten decisively in the southwest Pacific war,” continued Kenney, adding:

“He’s down now—not to his second team or third team, but to his high school scrubs.”

Kenney said the allies are taking every advantage possible of the enemy’s position, and said—further:

Nip Is In Retreat

“The simple fact is that the Nip is in retreat and we are pushing as fast as we can reassemble our forces to do so.”

Kenney said that the Fifth and 13th U. S. Air Forces definitely are responsible for annihilation of the enemy’s once-formidable air-armada and emphasized that “land-based aviation still is the backbone of all air power.”

Halsey’s brilliant raids against the Central Philippines came in for Kenney’s praise as “hard-hitting smacks to mop-up an already beaten airforce.” However, the flying leader added:

“When Halsey can strike from within 60 miles of the Philippines coast and destroy a total of 1,000 planes and have only 50 of those planes shot down in aerial combat, the Nip must be whipped.”

He is.

“The Japs have only months—not years—left.”

Set Paper Drive For October 21

Waste Paper Collection To Be Held Saturday, October 21, In New Castle

Saturday, October 21, has been set as the date for the October collection of waste paper in New Castle and surrounding townships. At a meeting of the Salvage Committee held in the Elks Home on Monday afternoon, Chairman Joseph A. Hartman and his committee set the date and laid plans for the collection.

Trucks will be furnished through the Lawrence County Chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association. Frank T. Sargent, head of the OGD in New Castle, promised men to work on the trucks and at the box cars and Thomas Allen, Boy Scout Executive, promised enough Boy Scouts to ride the trucks and collect the paper.

This collection will be a general one, and will take in old newspapers, magazines, wrapping and cardboard. More and more the need increases for paper products for containers for war purposes. The only solution is waste paper from homes, stores and industries.

Housewives are urged to save all waste paper, no matter how little and have it on the curb on the morning of October 21.

Local Flyer Makes 50 Combat Missions

Sgt. John Schuffert Tells Of Return From Ploesti With Flames In Bomb Bay Of Plane

15th AAF in Italy—Holder of the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, Staff Sergeant John H. Schuffert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuffert, 720 North Mercer street, New Castle, Pa., has joined the Half Hundred club after flying his fiftieth combat mission as radio operator and waist gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber.

Flying combat missions since last April, the high light of Schuffert's flying career was the time the whole crew had to bail out after a mission over Ploesti.

“The plane had been hit by flak so many times it wasn't funny, but the payoff came when a bomber blew up in front of us and the flaming pieces of it came sailing past, some landing in our open bomb bay,” the sergeant said, speaking of the incident.

Two of the crew members jumped, but a look at the inferno below—falling bombs and clouds of flak—kept the others in the plane fighting the fire before it could get to the gas tanks. The landing gear was shot away, the electrical system was out, and the plane was losing altitude.

Over some forbidding-looking mountainous territory, the pilot ordered the men to bail out. One landed in a tree. Sgt. Schuffert came down in a clearing, but they were all in friendly territory.

As a means of adding to their funds used for charitable purposes, the New Castle chapter Junior Hadassah will bring to New Castle, L. Daniel Schmidt, a famed hypnotist who will demonstrate his art and lecture upon the science of hypnotism. The demonstration will be held in the senior high school.

He was hit in the legs and is now in an American hospital in Europe. He has completed 27 missions and was awarded the air medal in England on D-Day and one on June 7.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rae, formerly of here but now residents of Brady Lake, O.

don't be over optimistic about replacing worn electric appliances!

Remember — when you gamble in careless treatment with the life of your washing machine and other electric servants you may have to pay off the bet in manual labor. Supposing some new washing machines were made this year—supposing the war in Europe would end in 1944, your chances of being one of the few to get a new appliance would be slim. No, new electric servants for everyone are not yet in sight. So, TAKE EXTRA GOOD CARE OF EVERY ELECTRIC APPLIANCE YOU OWN until you see the new ones in your electric dealer's store.

Urge Precautions To Halt Corn Borer

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Preliminary reports of damages to farm and garden summer crops by the European corn borer prompted the Department of Agriculture today to caution farmers and victory gardeners to clear their lands of heavy plant stalks and corn stubble.

A survey of damages has been launched by the bureau of plant industry and a complete picture of damages soon will be made public, it was stated. Initial reports indicate the double-brood borer spread extensively.

Ellwood-Beaver Tangle Thursday

Two Undefeated Elevens
Will Battle Under Lights
At Beaver Field

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 10.—Coach Howard Gillis and his assistant "Red" Wallace are looking ahead to Thursday night of this week when they must defend their undefeated record in the Ellwood-Beaver football rivalry at Beaver field in a night battle at 8 o'clock. This is being billed as a Columbus Day feature.

Besides a meeting of two undefeated valley teams, it will be a battle between the two leading scorers in the Beaver valley. Bill McClintock, the Wolverine left half back, and Dick Scherbaum, fullback of Beaver, who has tallied nine touchdowns as Beaver has waded through such opponents as Midland, Zelienople, Leesdale, Monaca and Freedom. McClintock has scored 10 touchdowns in games with such formidable foes as Union, Farrell, Rochester, Butler and Monaca.

Pile Up Points
It will be interesting to see which boy goes ahead in the scoring column after Thursday's game. Ellwood's Class AA record will not be on the line this week. Beaver is a Class B school. The Blue and White clad warriors have won four Class AA battles already—Butler, Rochester, Farrell and Monaca. Ellwood hopes to cross the 200 point mark this week, having to date accumulated 184 points to 13 for their opponents. Ellwood has defeated Union 45 to 0, Butler 39 to 7, Rochester 24 to 0, Farrell 35 to 0, and Monaca 40 to 0.

Arnold Wins By Kayo In First

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(INS)—Billy Arnold, Philadelphia schoolboy kayo artist, kept his knockout winning streak intact today after flattening Frankie Willis of Washington in the first stanza of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Met in Philadelphia.

The victory was Arnold's 24th knockout in 26 wins, with the young negro easily sending blows through the ring-wise Willis' defense. An overhand right sent Willis down in 2:51 after the opening gong. Willis previously went the distance with Henry Armstrong and Bob Montgomery.

In the semi-windup, Archie Wilmer, Wilmington featherweight, won a decision over New York's Al Guido.

Cardinals Win World Series

Defeat Browns 3 To 1 In Game Monday, Lanier-
Wilks Are Stars

BROWNIERS FAIL
WHEN AT PLATE

By LAWTON CARVER

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The whippersnapper St. Louis Browns can look back on the 1944 world series as a combination of golden dreams come true and frightening night mares in which Cardinal pitchers persistently threw baseball that crossed the plate looking no bigger than a green pea and about as easy to hit. Interspersed through this must be memories of the Browns' futility in fielding.

They realized the baseball players enduring ambition to play for the big chips, but the Cardinals let them enjoy a thrilling last-day American League pennant triumph just long enough to get to work on them and the finish of it all by four games to two yesterday was merely the culmination of a gloomy spectacle of a gloomy afternoon.

Two Records Broken
The smallest crowd of the series, 31,000 sat in on the obsequies arranged by left handed Max Lanier, a pitcher of speed and curving stuff with a touch of wildness, and Ted Wilks, freshman right-hander who rescued Lanier in the sixth to assure the Cards' almost inevitable 3 to 1 victory. Lanier allowed only three hits into the sixth when he walked two and served a wild pitch. Then Wilks came on the scene to turn the Browns back without anything more than a loud foul, while striking out four.

Two records of some consequence for futility were broken. The total of strikeouts for the series, a grand and glaring 92, shattered the previous high established when the Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Athletics in 1931. The Cardinals' hurlers also struck out 49 Browns to shatter a record which had endured since set in 1911 by the Athletics against the New York Giants. The box score:

Chicago Griddier Dies Of Injuries

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(INS)—A verdict of accidental death was given today in the case of Donald Levin, 17, who died yesterday from injuries suffered in a high school football game.

Levin, member of the Roosevelt High school squad, was injured when tackled during the game last Saturday between Roosevelt and Senn High schools.

FORMER UNION HI STARS MEET AGAIN

Two former Union High school athletes, who were pals before they went into the service, are enjoying a reunion this week, both being home on leave.

They are S-Sgt. Henry Boczar, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boczar, and Cpl. William Ryczak, son of Mrs. Anna Ryczak, both of whom reside on High street. S-Sgt. Boczar has been stationed in New Guinea and took part in the action against the Japs with a fighter command unit of the Air Forces. Cpl. Ryczak is stationed at the Tonopah, Nev. air base.

Danger from chemical warfare is increased in the present war due to increased capacity and range of aircraft.

HE'S CARDS' SERIES STAR

BLUX DONNELLY, right-handed rookie pitcher of the St. Louis Cards, emerges as the hero in the world series. Donnelly's relief pitching has been outstanding. He is up from Rochester where he won 17 games in 1943. He has pitched three no-hitters. (International)

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The greatest baseball player in this world series of 1944 and one of the greatest shortstops in baseball has seen it (Slats) Marion, of the Cardinals. He is a hundred per cent improved over the last couple of seasons, and even two or three years ago was being mentioned with the so-called immortals.

"He is the best shortstop I ever saw in the National league," said Umpire Beans Reardon today. "That goes back quite a long time, that beyond Wright and Jackson and Baneroff."

Compared With Wagner
The old timers of the game sit around and argue whether he was or wasn't as good as Honus Wagner, who was supposed to have been the best of them all. The Flying Dutchman of the old Pittsburgh Pirates was supposed to have picked up balls without effort that others couldn't have reached.

The mere fact that Marion is compared with him must mean something. Marion is what the ball players call a ball player's ball player. His batting average may not be too impressive over a season, but in the clutch he is poison. In the first game of this world series, for instance, he made two doubles, the Cardinals seven hits and scored their only run.

He is a gangly fellow, six feet and two inches tall and weighing only 170 pounds. They call him the Octopus because of the way he seems to stretch out tentacles to gather in anything on his side of the diamond.

Great Shortstop
One of the greatest compliments that will ever be paid to him came in last Wednesday's game when one of the Browns hit a ball toward shortstop. It was well to Marion's right and a fairly difficult play the way it looked. Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who used to shortstop for the Cardinals with considerable ability, turned his back on the play and went on talking to a friend in the press box.

The friend said that as an ex-shortstop it was surprising that Leo wasn't interested in watching Marion field the ball and throw out the runner.

"What's the use of looking?" Leo asked. "If it is hit on his side of the diamond you know the runner is a dead duck."

New Castle To Battle Farrell

New Castle High Hopes To Snap Losing Streak On Friday Night

Hoping to snap a three-game losing streak, the longest in the coaching regime of Phil Bridenbaugh in New Castle in some 22 odd years, the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" is hard at work at Taggart stadium in preparation for the grueling contest that awaits them this Friday night here under the lights, when they battle Farrell's Night Riders.

Last year New Castle took Farrell 20 to 7, and the year before that 33 to 12, and for that matter Farrell never beaten New Castle in football. New Castle won the first game played in 1934 by a score of 25 to 0, and in 1941 by a score of 27 to 7. Farrell will be after revenge here Friday night.

Expect Big Crowd
New Castle and Farrell will play the only Friday game in the county. Farrell has asked for over 1,000 tickets and has been supplied by Ticket Manager Robert Mills. Farrell will bring the biggest crowd to Taggart stadium of any team this year.

Tickets were placed on sale at 10 o'clock this morning and met a ready sale. An overflow crowd is assured for this week, so get your tickets early if you want to see the schoolboys in their annual battle.

Coaches Phil Bridenbaugh and Hank Day will be facing each other across the barred gridiron once more. Bridenbaugh in the meetings over a span of years has the most victories to his credit. Can New Castle keep this win record over Farrell intact?

EST YE sportsmen of the Lawrence County Association forget, he reminded you there'll be a big meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in Nesannock hall of the V. F. W. East Washington street. Shotgun shells? Some of those who are lucky when they trek through the door may walk out with a box, a rather important possession in these days of not too many shells. . . . Incidentally the officials of the association propose imparting a few of those "Don'ts" and "Do's" at this time of year because of the proximity of the small game season. . . . One of the "Don'ts" will be in regard to the property of others; in other words, "Don't break down a wood or wire fence and Don't fail to close the gate" and very important "Don't aim at game and shoot a farmer's fowl or cow." . . . Reports are yet arriving about that field meet the association held Saturday at their Harbor farm. Reports state there were 100 present with their dogs and all enjoyed the get-together. . . . Game warden's report game plentiful this season.

Although the teams are composed of only grade school players there's a heap of interest in the Catholic League and indications point to the boys drawing some very large crowds this fall. Their baseball league sure made the headlines and their best team and also a pick of their stars got into post-season games with the American League team and the All-Stars. . . . St. Joseph copped the 1943 grid flag but got away to a poor start this year. St. Vitus having twisted their ankles for a 19-0 score while St. Mary took St. Michael, 27-0. In the former game the reported outstanding players were Fuzzy Sabino and Paolore for St. Vitus. The former made a beautiful 33 yard for a touchdown. Budd got in a piece of good luck when he recovered a fumble by Mack of St. Joseph. It was good for a touchdown and line bucking got the winners their third touchdown. Taylor, Disson and Murphy led St. Mary's attack. While the foregoing gridders deserve the credit the writer who covered the games the fact must always remember that there are others who make such things possible. It is seldom that fans stop to note what the line is doing. Many games are won by some linemen's work. This goes for all elevens.

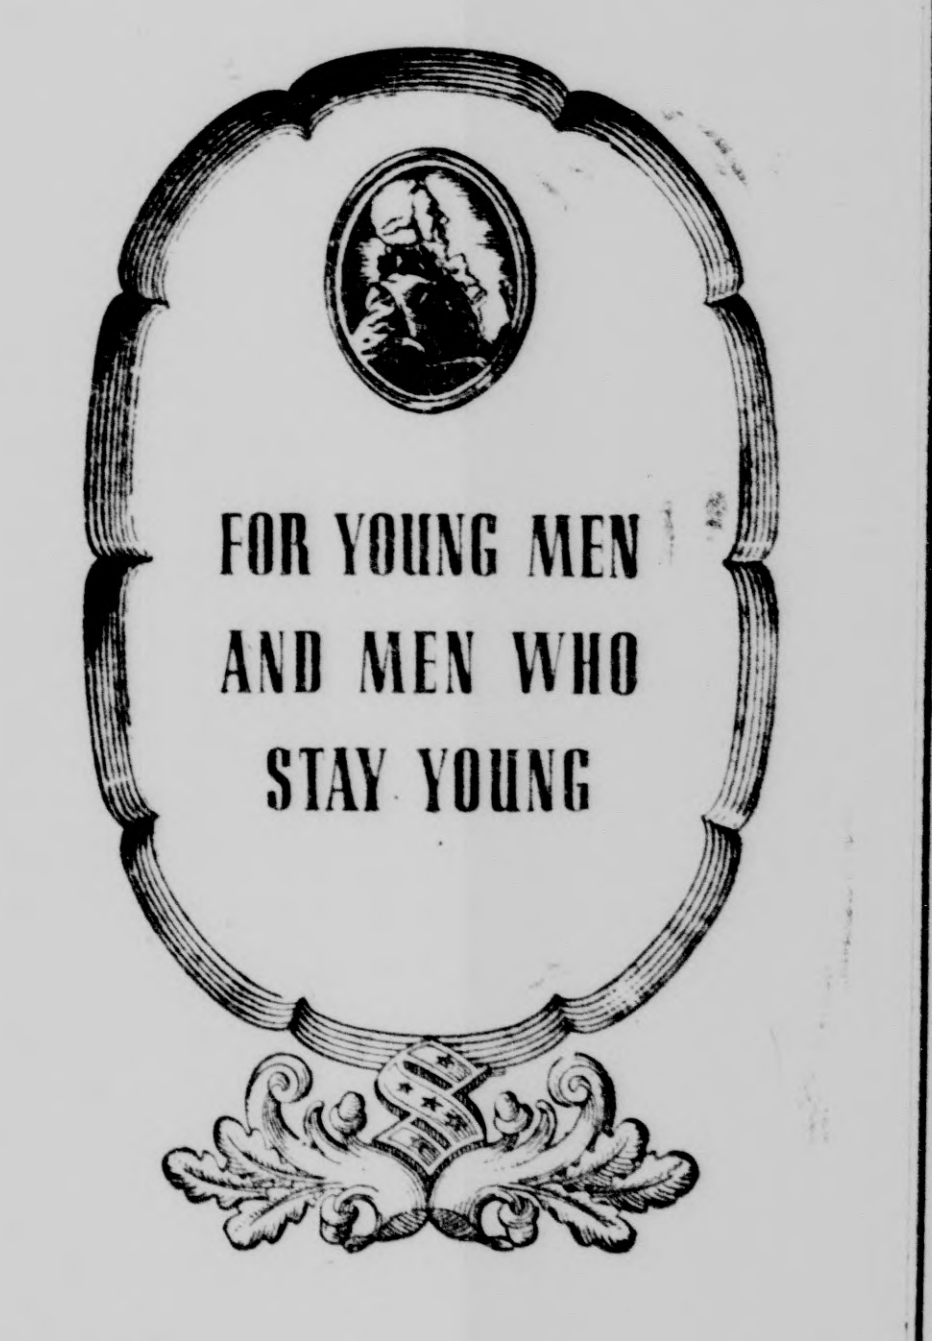

Otto Graham, All-American football and basketball star at Northwestern U is now at the U. S. Navy post-flight school at Chapel Hill, N. C. where he captains the grid team. Bobby Weant, former North Carolina U Tar-Heel captain another Chapel Hill team. . . . Among those in the stands during the St. Louis series was Corp. Johnny Spillane. He was coming up as a pitcher. However, he rejected a St. Louis Cardinals contract to join the Marines. He lost his pitching hand when a Jap hand grenade was catching him and hurling them back at the Nips' exploded during the battle of Tarawa. Johnny's trip to the series was made possible through a theater chain. . . .

American Bowling Bulletin reports that Sgt. Red Simmons of Rochester, N. Y., during 1939-40, rolled two perfect games and received a gold ring and a gold belt from the ABC. He took part in the Africa campaign and was captured by the Germans at Faid Pass, Tunisia, January 28, 1943. A German soldier took the ring and buckle from him at the internment camp where he was held until seven months later when he escaped. . . . For 49 years the ABC has been receiving official claims for 300 games and thus far has seen fit to honor 2,982 of them with gold awards consisting of rings, medals or belt buckles. . . . Doc Lumley came forth with a golf compliment yesterday. He asserted he had never seen the Field club course in such grand condition. . . . And now that the court has handed down a decision making the city liable for taxes on Sylvan Heights course and Cascade Park, it looks as though the city may appeal. There is some talk of having all the political subdivisions take them over, thus eliminating the tax problem.

Four Of Cabinet Members Aloof From Campaign

By ERWIN D. STAS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Three cabinet members are playing leading roles today to elect President Roosevelt for a fourth term, while three are "waiting their call" and four will have nothing to do with the campaign.

The trio actively seeking the president's re-election is Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, Agriculture Secretary Claude A. Wickard and Attorney General Francis Biddle, the latter making his first political speech Monday in Atlantic City, N. J.

Ickes, a former Republican and now an outstanding New Deal spokesman, already has completed four major political speeches on behalf of the president at Philadelphia, Grand Rapids, Mich., Pittsburgh and Los Angeles. Wickard is on his agenda for Oct. 10 and Newark, N. J., Oct. 16, as well as some radio addresses.

Wickard is presently swinging across the heart of the midwestern farm states in an effort to sway votes to the president. He will speak in 10 midwest states and Pennsylvania.

The attorney general, meanwhile, is reported as having "a number of other speeches in his mind" for delivery following the Atlantic City appearance.

"May Speak"

In the "may speak" column awaiting a nod from the Democratic national committee are Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, Postmaster General Frank A. Walker and Jesse Jones, secretary of Commerce, none of whom have yet participated in the 1944 campaign but all of whom were active in previous election years.

Madame Perkins as of today had no political speeches scheduled. It is generally believed, however, that she will be called upon by the national committee to "take the stump" for the president before election day.

Although the postmaster general has made no political speeches since the Democratic national convention in Chicago, he "probably will make a couple" within the next month.

"I have made no political speeches so far in this campaign," said Secretary Jones, "but I will, of course, if the committee calls on me."

Of the remaining four cabinet members—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Henry Stimson and Secretary of Navy James Forrestal—none will take part in the campaign.

With a jilling frost, the growing season ends and the supply of homegrown vegetables dwindles rapidly. By careful storage, families can extend the supply of vegetables through the winter.

Storing root crops and other fall vegetables not only saves money but gives more variety in the diet and a better supply of food for the family. How many such vegetables to store is a question that comes up in many families. As a guide to help these and other families with their storage problem, the following suggestions are offered:

A farm family of five persons could easily store for use during the non-growing season the following amounts of vegetables:

Cabbage, 50 heads; celery or endive, 50 stalks; kale, 25 plants which can be left in the garden.

Two bushels of beets, two bushels of carrots, a half bushel of turnips or rutabagas, and a half bushel of parsnips.

Onions, 1-4 bushels; winter squash and pumpkin, 25 to 35; dried peas and beans, 25 pounds; potatoes, 25 bushels.

To keep these vegetables in tip-top shape during their storage period, they must be stored properly. For details on how to store each of these vegetables, consult Leaflet 84, "Storing Vegetables" which may be obtained upon request to the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

More Employees Needed In State

Many Sections Cite Need For More Workers To Complete War Contracts

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—Employees of 12 Pennsylvania cities have certified the need for about 35,000 new employees during the next 21 days to complete vital war contracts, the State War Manpower commission reported today.

"The present labor supply situation in Pennsylvania is very light," declared Director Florian J. Boland. "Meeting request of war industries and other industries constitutes a serious situation in regard to the successful operation of plants during the present crisis."

Allentown employers called for 800 workers, while plant owners in Chambersburg, the small Cumberland county community, have asked for 300 additional employees, Boland stated.

Fifty hundred new employees were needed in Erie, 500 in New Castle, 1100 in Lancaster, 2000 in Williamsport, 3000 in Reading, 1000 in York, 800 in Johnstown, he added.

Boland said that Altoona, searching for 700 workers, had an estimated labor supply of 1900 men.

While a great majority of the workers were needed to staff war plants, Boland explained that the demand also included persons for lumbering, canning and general manufacturing work.

Philadelphia, he pointed out, was in "the worst shape" because employers have indicated the need for 14,000 workers while the present supply was almost non-existent.

"All types of jobs are open in the area," Boland stated, "everything from highly skilled work to unskilled jobs."

Employers in the Pittsburgh area have estimated the need before November 1 of 10,000 workers, Boland explained. He said the available supply constituted only about 500 men and women.

State Group Warns Of Political Move

State Federated Legislative Committee Denounces Move In Campaign By P.A.C.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 10.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Federated Legislative committee denounced the political action committee today for an alleged attempt "to use the church for its own political ends" and warned labor that "slavery" would be the answer if the organization continued to function.

The 24-member committee, representing 12 state-wide organizations including the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon league, adopted a resolution at its meeting at Harrisburg yesterday.

"That we make known to labor our interest in its problems and our willingness to cooperate with it in any program that will help improve the conditions of the working man in all branches of labor," the resolution state, "but we cannot work with a group claiming to represent labor when it is contrary to our Christian faith, our American form of government, and in the last analysis harmful to the working man himself."

"The CIO political action committee has sent to religious leaders a pamphlet seeking cooperation of the church in the program of the PAC, in it it relates to the November election, and that on the back cover of the booklet is a statement that the PAC is a non-partisan organization for the election of a certain candidate," the resolution asserted.

Rotary Hears Of New Type Heating

Radiant Heating From Pipes Laid In Floors Hailed As Advance In Home Heating

New Castle Rotary Club members heard a discussion of radiant heat at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon, when they were addressed by C. W. Bierly, of the A. M. Biers Company, of Pittsburgh.

In this type of home and office heating, pipes are laid in concrete in the floor, and the heat radiates through the room from hot water which circulates through the pipes. Advantages claimed for this type of heating, are that the heat is more evenly distributed, eliminating drafts, and that it also conserves fuel.

Pvt. Charles McCarthy, of Hazelton, Pa., and Sgt. John Helmer, of Wilkensburg, Pa., were the guests of the club. Both men are now stationed at Deshon Hospital Annex here, being reconditioned for return to service. Pvt. McCarthy was wounded at Casino; while Sgt. Helmer was wounded at Anzio Beach, and both are now about ready for re-assignment.

Almira Home Needs Potatoes, Fruit

Look For Good Fruit Year Here To Be Reflected In Gifts To Home October 25

Due to the fact that this has been such an exceptionally good year for fruit in this district, the Donation Day committee of the Almira Home hopes that many contributions of fruit will be among the annual ingathering of foodstuffs at the home on October 25, Mrs. W. Walter Bramham, chairman, said today.

Potatoes, too, are another item of groceries that the home uses in large quantity, about 75 bushels annually. The home uses more than 40 bushels of apples in the course of a year.

Gifts of canned goods and staple groceries of all kinds including bread and pastry flour are needed in large quantities to supply the table of the home as well as jellies and preserves. Contributions of money given on Donation Day are used toward the purchase of sugar and other rationed foods.

For club and church groups who have an ingathering for Almira Home, arrangements have been made to collect these from a central location if they cannot be delivered to the home. Phone 982.
